Dear Parent(s) and Carer(s)

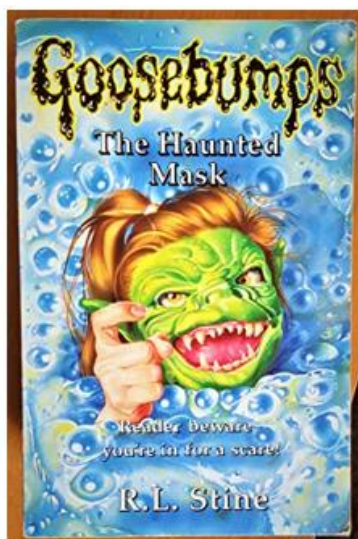

Hurrah - we made it to the end of the half term... well done everyone!!

This week we were delighted to hear that Albright Education Centre has achieved GOLD status for the Carnegie Mental Health Award! This is a very prestigious award that recognises all of the brilliant work that the school does with our children, staff and families. It is rare to achieve the 'Gold'. Thank you to Mrs Kelly for all the work she has put into getting this award!

We also received a visit from the JCQ Inspectors this week - They are the body that ensures we are following the very stringent rules and regulations of hosting exams. I am very pleased to say we passed with flying colours - 100%!! A big well done to the exams team who put a lot of effort into ensuring our exams run as smoothly and as fairly as possible for all our pupils - it is no easy task!

Mr Aimes' 'Bookclub' recommended book of the week:

Carly Beth is a girl who wants revenge. Chuck and Steve are making her time at school a living nightmare. And this Halloween she is going to get her own back.

When looking for a mask she gets more than she bargained for and events spiral out of control.

Mr Aimes and his book club found this book exhilarating and were hooked the entire time. Full of twists and turns it is a must read for any horror fan.

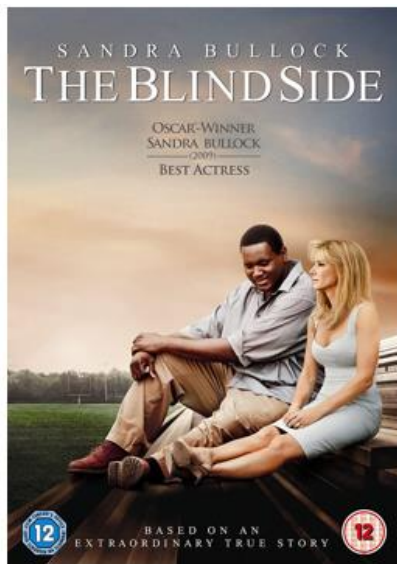

Appropriate for readers aged 9 upwards.

Miss Powers' 'Bookclub' recommended film of the week:

Michael Oher is a black homeless teen who has been drifting in and out the school system for years, until Leigh Ann Tuohy played by Sandra Bullock takes him in.

This is a heart-warming and uplifting story about people finding their potential and making unlikely dreams come true.

It is emotional and yet at the same time truly inspiring.

Have yourselves a fabulous Bank Holiday Weekend in the sunshine (don't forget the suncream!) - and pupils, enjoy your half term break! We will look forward to seeing you again (in uniform!) on Monday 5th June!
