Dear Parent(s) and Carer(s)

This half term is flying by - we are trying desperately to cram all our 'normal' activities into a very short half-term so it's all very 'whirlwindy' at the moment!

As promised I said I would share some photos from the GCSE trip to Birmingham's Police Museum. They had a great time ... and it was educational too, bonus!! Thanks to Miss Wilkes for arranging it and the staff for accompanying.... it was definitely a quieter school on Wednesday!

We have received some information regarding a new app called 'MYLOL' that pupils might be tempted to access, where there are safeguarding concerns. We have put the information on our website and I've included the leaflet here too, to raise awareness. If you feel you need additional support regarding keeping your child safe online, please do get in touch with either Mrs Powers or Mr Downey who can advise, point you in the right direction or even arrange a parent information session.

Finally, we have been working on updating our website and ensuring it is a bit easier to navigate. If it's been a while since you last looked, give it a go - it covers all kinds of information, including our weekly newsletters, photo gallery, curriculum information and an overview of our different provisions (Albright Academy - main site, Albright Plus - West Brom, and Albright Post 16). If you want to provide any feedback please feel free - always happy to have your input from a parent perspective!

Have yourselves a wonderful weekend - one more week to go!!!!

Mrs Hazelwood
